Print double sided on 8.5x11" paper

Join us throughout Architecture and the City to sketch, meet your creative community and have fun!

100 FIRST ST TERRACE

SEPTEMBER 5, 2017
100 FIRST STREET ROOF TERRACE. 12PM-1PM
100 FIRST ST, SAN FRANCISCO (SOMA)

Join us for the first Sketchy Tuesday of Architecture and the City 2017! We'll be meeting at the roof terrace above the 100 First Street Garage. The terrace is part of the 100 First Street building, but the entrance to the terrace is on Mission Street between First and Second, near 515 Mission Street. Take the large flight of stairs next to Proper Food. There is an accessible entrance with an elevator through the lobby of the 100 First Street.

ART INSTITUTE ROOFTOP

SEPTEMBER 12, 2017
SAN FRANCISCO ART INSTITUTE ROOFTOP. 12PM-1PM
800 CHESTNUT STREET, SAN FRANCISCO (RUSSIAN HILL/NORTH BEACH)

Let's meet at the San Francisco Art Institute for some sketching on their rooftop, with Special Guest Sketcher, Dan Hogman! Enter through the main doors at 800 Chestnut, walk across the courtyard, and follow the hallway to the left to the stairs or elevator to the Zellerbach Quadrangle. On the next floor, there is a staircase to the right of the Emmanuel Walter Gallery to the upper level of the roof. Both the lower and upper levels of the roof have great vistas to sketch.

TRANSAMERICA REDWOOD PARK

SEPTEMBER 19, 2017
TRANSAMERICA REDWOOD PARK. 12PM-1PM
600 MONTGOMERY, SAN FRANCISCO (FINANCIAL DISTRICT)

We'll meet at noon at the Redwood Park next to the Transamerica Building. If you haven't been to this park, it's a very fun surprise in the middle of a business district, and certainly came to mind when we thought of this year's theme, Secret City. We'll be joined again by Special Guest Sketcher, Dan Hogman, to draw this urban forest. If you don't immediately see the park and the tall redwoods, keep walking around the pyramid: there are entrances from Clay and Washington Streets.

150 CALIFORNIA ROOF TERRACE

SEPTEMBER 26, 2017
150 CALIFORNIA ROOF TERRACE. 12PM-1PM
150 CALIFORNIA STREET ROOF TERRACE (FINANCIAL DISTRICT)

Join us for spectacular views of the skyline from the 150 California Street Roof Terrace. We'll be joined by Special Guest Sketcher, Beate Fritsch.
Simply enter the lobby, sign in at the desk, say you're going to the roof terrace and take the elevator to the 6th floor.

More details at
www.sketchytuesday.com

SEPTEMBER 12, 2017

Sketchy Tuesday is an urban sketching adventure during the Architecture and the City festival, brought to you by Arterra Landscape Architects and the AIASF. Gather with a group of architects, sketchers, designers and enthusiasts every Tuesday in September at noon to sketch the city and meet a creative community.

Grab your own lunch, sketchbook and drawing utensil of choice and meet us at an off-the-beaten-path location around San Francisco.

The festival theme this year is Secret City, and we'll be doing our best to show you a side of the city you haven't seen before by exploring San Francisco's POPOS: privately owned public open spaces.

POPOS are spaces for the public to use within private buildings for lunch, informal meetings, reading, sketching or to spend sometime outside, and we will pass through private buildings to access some of the public spaces. For more information, see SPUR's great guide on POPOS.

Share your sketches with the group on our website and Instagram by using the hashtag #SketchyTuesday or emailing your drawings to nicole@arterrasf.com.

SKETCHYTUESDAY.COM

#SketchyTuesday

SKETCHY TUESDAY
presented by ARTERRA
LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS

LET'S SKETCH!

Fold the top edge down to meet the bottom with the calendar inside

Sketchy Tuesday is an urban sketching adventure during the Architecture and the City festival, brought to you by Arterra Landscape Architects and the AIASF. Gather with a group of architects, sketchers, designers and enthusiasts every Tuesday in September at noon to sketch the city and meet a creative community.

Grab your own lunch, sketchbook and drawing utensil of choice and meet us at an off-the-beaten-path location around San Francisco.

The festival theme this year is Secret City, and we'll be doing our best to show you a side of the city you haven't seen before by exploring San Francisco's POPOS: privately owned public open spaces.
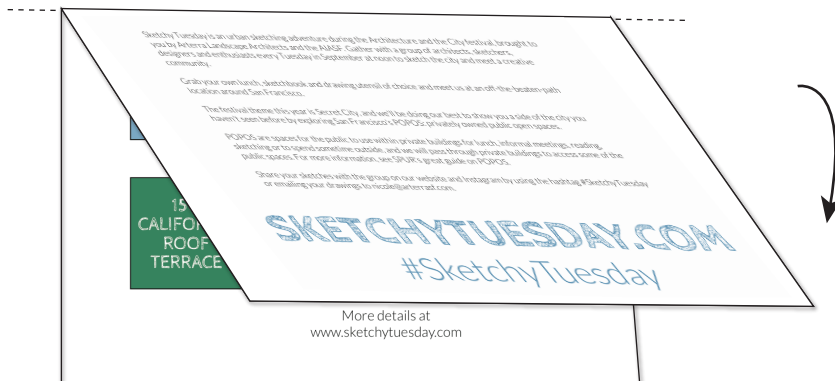

POPOS are spaces for the public to use within private buildings for lunch, informal meetings, reading, sketching or to spend sometime outside, and we will pass through private buildings to access some of the public spaces. For more information, see SPUR's great guide on POPOS.

Share your sketches with the group on our website and Instagram by using the hashtag #SketchyTuesday or emailing your drawings to nicole@arterrasf.com.

SKETCHYTUESDAY.COM
#SketchyTuesday

150 CALIFORNIA ROOF TERRACE

More details at
www.sketchytuesday.com

Fold left to right, and you're done!

Sketchy Tuesday is an urban sketching adventure during the Architecture and the City festival, brought to you by Arterra Landscape Architects and the AIASF. Gather with a group of architects, sketchers, designers and enthusiasts every Tuesday in September at noon to sketch the city and meet a creative community.

Grab your own lunch, sketchbook and drawing utensil of choice and meet us at an off-the-beaten-path location around San Francisco.

The festival theme this year is Secret City, and we'll be doing our best to show you a side of the city you haven't seen before by exploring San Francisco's POPOS: privately owned public open spaces.

POPOS are spaces for the public to use within private buildings for lunch, informal meetings, reading, sketching or to spend sometime outside, and we will pass through private buildings to access some of the public spaces. For more information, see SPUR's great guide on POPOS.

Share your sketches with the group on our website and Instagram by using the hashtag #SketchyTuesday or emailing your drawings to nicole@arterrasf.com.

SKETCHYTUESDAY.COM

#SketchyTuesday

LET'S SKETCH!